Competency: 13.1.3A Recognize that individuals have unique interests.

Lesson Topic: Different is good

Subject: English, Language Arts

Length: One class period

Materials: Writing paper, pencil

Evaluation: Students will conduct a one-on-one interview with a fellow classmate and share the answers about the classmate with the class.

Procedure:
1. Students pair up.
2. Teacher provides What Interests You worksheet to one of the students.
3. The student with the paper interviews/asks questions of their partner using the What Interests You worksheet and records the answers.
4. The teacher provides a What Interests You worksheet to the other student to conduct the same exercise.
5. Students share the answers with the class.
What Interests You?

Name: ________________________________________________

1. What is your favorite color?

2. What is your favorite kind of ice cream?

3. What is your favorite food?

4. What is your favorite TV show or cartoon?

Procedure:

Class Period 1: Speaking

1. Teacher distributes the Say What? worksheet and asks students to rewrite the sentences.
2. Students rewrite the sentences to make them sound better.
3. Students take turns reading the incorrect sentences and the correct sentences to the class.
13.2.3A continued

Class Period 2: Listening

1. Teacher chooses a student to role-play with and a student to write responses on the board.

2. The teacher asks the rest of the class to watch the conversation and think about how the teacher is not listening to the student.

3. The teacher and student have a conversation about what the student did during the weekend and the teacher displays poor listening techniques that can include, but are not limited to:

- Poor or no eye contact
- Interrupting the student
- Changing the subject
- Walking away
- Playing with an item
- Looking through a bag

4. The students provide examples of how the teacher was not listening well during the role-playing exercise; the answers are written on the board.

5. Students can take turns role-playing using their worst speaking and listening techniques.

6. The teacher provides examples of appropriate listening techniques and why it is important at home, at school, and someday, in a job/career.
Review the sentences below and change them to sound better!

1. Why don’t we got no food in the house?

2. I like that movie much more better.

3. He is busy erasing the board with another student.

4. Me and Blake played football.

5. It’s really like hot in here today.

6. My math is worser than my spelling.

Can you think of any other things people may say that are not nice when talking to one another?

Greeting or salutation
------------------
Dear So-and-so,

Introduction
------------------
This part is intended to get the person to want to continue reading and to give the person an idea as to why you’re writing. You would usually start out talking about the person to whom you’re sending the letter (it’s polite). Then you may want to give some information about you and why you’re writing. This can all go in one paragraph, or if it’s too long and doesn’t “go” in one paragraph, make the decision to separate it.

Body
------------------
This is the main part of the letter. It gets to the point of why you’re writing. Change paragraphs and indent (make a space) each time you change the topic you’re talking about. This is the longest part of the letter.

Conclusion
------------------
Wrap it all up. Be smart!

Closing
------------------
Choose an appropriate closing. Only the first word is capitalized.

Signature
------------------
Sign your name. Write in cursive.

Procedure:

1. Teacher divides the classroom into two groups. These two groups stay together for the following two team building activities:
   - Students are instructed to line up by the month and day they were born and are timed against the other team. The team that correctly completes the task first wins.
   - Students are instructed to line up by the first letter of their last name. The group that correctly completes this task first wins.

2. The teacher brings the group together for a larger timed activity.

3. Students are tasked with lining up from shortest to tallest without speaking to one another and timed.

4. Once completed, the teacher provides students with a minute to talk about how they can do this again.

5. The teacher times students a second time to see if they were able to increase their time by working together.
3rd Grade ▪ Career Retention and Advancement ▪ Language Arts, Health

Competency

13.3.3A Identify attitudes and work habits that contribute to success at home and school.

Lesson Topic

Do you have character?

Subject

Language Arts, Health

Length

Five class periods

Materials

Class period 1: Blackboard or dry erase board
Class period 2: Paper, pencil
Class period 3: Pencil, Responsibility Chart worksheet
Class period 4: Pencil, Are You Fair? worksheet
Class period 5: Blackboard or dry erase board

Evaluation

Students will learn about being trustworthy, respectful, responsible, fair, and caring through multiple activities.

Procedure:

Class Period 1: Trust

1. Teacher writes the four ways to be trustworthy on the board for a group discussion.
   - Be reliable – Keep your promises. Do what you say you are going to do.
   - Be honest – Don’t lie, cheat or steal, even if it means getting in trouble anyway.
   - Be strong – Do what is right, even when it may be hard.
   - Be good – Think of others and try not to hurt their feelings.

2. Teacher asks students to provide examples of what each word means and leads the students in a discussion on the items.

3. Ask students if they can think of any other trustworthy behaviors that should be on the board.
13.3.3A continued

Class Period 2: Respect
1. Teacher explains what respect means and why it is important at school, at home and in the community. (Be nice, polite, listen to others, don’t be a bully, etc.)
2. Teacher divides classroom into groups and provides paper and pencils.
3. Each group decides on a note taker and a speaker.
4. Half of the classroom makes a list of things that “do” show respect. The other half makes a list of things that “don’t” show respect.
5. Teacher allows enough time to share the responses aloud.
6. Speakers share the group answers with the class.

Class Period 3: Responsibility
This activity should start on a Monday and end on Sunday.
1. Teacher explains what responsibility means and why it is important at school, at home and in the community. (Be reliable and dependable, take care of your own business, think before you act, etc.)
2. Teacher distributes the Responsibility Chart worksheet.
3. Teacher explains that students need to complete the chart each day to see if they are being responsible at home, school and/or the community.
4. Teacher does NOT check to see if the chart has been completed every day and reminds students only to bring the chart back to school on the Monday of the next week.
5. Teacher checks on Monday to see who was responsible and remembered to complete the chart for the entire week and bring it back to school.

Class Period 4: Fair (Are You Fair?)
1. Teacher provides students with the Are You Fair? worksheet and explains what being fair means.
2. Students read the questions provided and answer yes, no or sometimes.
3. Teacher discusses each question with students, but does not ask students to share their answers.
4. Teacher leads discussion about these questions and in which ways they are fair or not fair.
13.3.3A continued

Class Period 5: Caring
1. Teacher asks students to explain what caring means to them and shares examples of ways people show they care.
2. Teacher uses the blackboard and has students take part in a discussion about caring careers.
3. Teacher asks students to name jobs that require someone to be caring.
4. Answers will be listed on the blackboard.
5. Once the teacher has 10 or more jobs listed, students explain why they think the jobs are caring.

<td>Students will define what each of the following words mean and use them in a sentence using someone they know. This will be a homework assignment.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Procedure:

Class Period 1

Near the end of class, teacher assigns homework to students asking that they:

1. Define the following words:
   - Compliment
   - Cooperate
   - Encourage
   - Participate

2. Use the word in a sentence along with the name of someone they know.

Class Period 2

1. Teacher asks students what they found the definitions of the words to be and write them on the board.

2. Students share some of their answers with the group.

3. Students take part in one or both of the activities listed.
13.3.3C continued

Activity 1: Pass the Compliment

1. Teacher provides students with heavy stock paper and instructs students to write their name and draw a very large heart.

2. Teacher explains that students will pass the paper behind them and instructs them to write a compliment about the student whose paper they have. Compliments should be different for each student.

3. The teacher provides some examples of compliments on the board to assist students with this process.

4. The activity is complete once each student has received and given a compliment in the classroom.

Activity 2: Compliment Chain

1. Prior to this activity, the teacher should assemble a poster board with small chains that link to one another. There should be enough space to write in the chain and enough chains for each student in the class.

2. The teacher should hang the compliment chain somewhere in the classroom that is easily accessible for all students.

3. Teacher starts the chain with a student’s name on the top of the chain and provides a compliment in the bottom of the chain.

4. The teacher explains to the class that each day, one student must provide a compliment for the student next on the chain.

5. This activity continues until all students have received and given a compliment. It may take a month to complete.

6. Students in the class encourage each other to create new compliments.

7. This activity incorporates all four of the effective group interactive terms: compliment, cooperate, encourage, and participate.

<tr>
<td>Evaluation</td>
<td>Students will become aware how much items cost in a home and understand what a budget is.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Procedure:

1. Teacher distributes the House Budget worksheet to students for homework.
2. Students list the things they think cost money in their households. (This exercise shows how money is used.)
3. Students can color and decorate the house any way they like.
4. Teacher leads discussion on what items cost money in the students’ homes. Items should range from house payments and water bills to toothpaste and toilet paper.
5. Students take the House Budget worksheet home and ask their parents to provide them with answers of what parents use money for in their home. Students circle the answers their parents provide them.
6. Teacher leads class discussion on what items the students listed and which ones parents included.

Procedure:

Class Period 1

1. Teacher discusses how time is used in school. Examples include why there are different times for lunch, recess and gym. The teacher should explain how this is done to provide all of their other classes, such as math, reading and social studies.

2. Ask the students to complete the My Time Chart worksheet at home and mark all the things they do starting at 3:00 PM and ending at 8:00 PM for the four days listed, Monday through Thursday.

Class Period 2

1. Lead a class discussion on students’ results from the My Time Chart worksheets and have them suggest ways to plan their time more effectively, in order to have time to accomplish what they “need” to do and what they “want” to do.

2. Teacher collects My Time Chart worksheet for homework credit.

Roles in My Family worksheet

Evaluation

Students will interview a family member and ask them to explain their roles at home, at work, at school, or in the community.

Procedure:

1. Teacher distributes Roles in My Family worksheet and asks students to interview someone in their family about their roles at home, at work, at the student’s school, and in the community. Students can include clubs or organizations that the family member takes part in.

2. Students bring back worksheet and share the results with the classroom.

3. Teacher asks students if they see differences in how their family member may have to be at home versus work. Teacher discusses how roles in the family are always changing and reminds students that change is an important way of life.

Competency | 13.3.3G Define and describe the importance of lifelong learning.
---|---
Lesson Topic | Learning for a lifetime
Subject | English, History
Length | One class period
Materials | Teacher must develop a slide show of lifelong learning examples as described in the procedure.
Evaluation | Teacher and students will take part in a discussion why lifelong learning is important.

Procedure:

1. Define what lifelong learning means and provide examples of why it is important to continue to learn in school, home and the community. Lifelong learning means it is never too soon or too late for learning. You should be open to new ideas, skills, behaviors, and choices.

2. Using slide show, discuss examples of lifelong learning. This slide show can include, but is not limited to:
   - Technology – Includes televisions, computers, iPods, and cell phones. Teacher can remind students through time how music devices have changed and show pictures. This could include eight tracks, records, cassettes, walkmen, CDs, and iPods.
   - Transportation – Includes cars, trucks, motorcycles, and hybrid cars.
   - Academics – Speak about lifelong learning to gain new skills.
   - Workforce – Speak on how continued lifelong learning helps workers keep up with changes in the workplace, such as new telephone systems, computer programs, etc.
   - Communication – Includes the pony express, telegraph, rotary phone, wall (corded) phone, cordless phone, cell phone, etc.

3. Get students involved by asking them to name new products in any of the above topics or see if they can think of anything else that may involve lifelong learning.

</tbody>
</table>

Procedure:

1. Teacher first asks students if anyone knows what the term entrepreneur means.

2. Teacher defines the word entrepreneur to students.
   - Entrepreneur – A person who organizes, manages and assumes the risk of business. A person or group who starts a business on their own based on an idea, product or skill.

3. Teacher provides examples of famous entrepreneurs and asks students to name a few if they can. Examples:
   - Walt Disney – Mickey Mouse, Disney
   - Henry Ford – Ford Motor Cars
   - Ben Cohen and Jerry Greenfield – Ben and Jerry’s ice cream
   - Milton Hershey – Chocolate

Optional: Students are tasked with researching two entrepreneurs to include their name and business they founded.

Created in 1963 by the Pennsylvania General Assembly, the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency (PHEAA) has evolved into one of the nation’s leading student aid organizations. Today, PHEAA is a national provider of student financial aid services, serving millions of students and thousands of schools through its loan guaranty, loan servicing, financial aid processing, outreach and other student aid programs.

PHEAA’s earnings are used to support its public service mission and to pay its operating costs, including administration of the Pennsylvania State Grant and other state-funded student aid programs. PHEAA continues to devote its energy, resources and imagination to developing innovative ways to ease the financial burden of higher education for students, families, schools, and taxpayers. PHEAA conducts its student loan servicing activities nationally as American Education Services (AES) and FedLoan Servicing.
